

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

TUESDAY, EVENING, DEC. 27, 1892.

Sun rises to-morrow at 7:25; sun sets at 4:55. High water 1:10 a. m. and 1:51 p. m.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this section increasing cloudiness, winds shifting to northerly, probably with heavy snow rain evening and during the night, followed by fair weather and northerly winds during Wednesday, and—

A BRUISE.—The weather, which had been decidedly wintry on Saturday, showed in a snowfall early Sunday morning, and there was every indication that an old-fashioned white Christmas was in store for us. In an hour or so, however, the heavens cleared, and a cold and cold weather followed. The rain during the night had become considerably blocked with ice and hunting creek had been frozen from bank to bank. About nine o'clock at night a roaring wind broke out from the north, was accompanied by some snow which was driven horizontally through the streets. The temperature kept falling and the aspect of affairs was as bleak as that produced in the north-west by a blizzard. The stars appeared large and toward 11 o'clock the wind had somewhat moderated, but the cold was intense, and by morning the river was a solid sheet of ice from shore to shore. Hydrants were frozen and huge blocks hung from the tenders of locomotives which moved through the streets. The Norfolk steamer managed to force her way through the ice and made a track which was later utilized by one ferry boat which made irregular trips between this city and Washington. The Baltimore steamer Sue started down the river in the morning, but was forced to return, but later a track having been made by the Wakefield she proceeded down. When near Glymont she broke some of her machinery and had to stop there for some time to make repairs. The Arrowsmith left in the evening for Baltimore where she will undergo repairs. At 5 o'clock yesterday morning the mercury registered 15 and midway it stood at or several degrees below the freezing point, and this morning the ice had become thicker in the river.

The Norfolk steamer arrived here this morning about an hour late. She was followed by the steamer Geo. Law from the lower river. To-day but one of the ferry boats, the Columbia, has been running and she made but irregular trips. The railroad transfer barge has been running at intervals between this city and Shepherd. The steamer Tanager left Baltimore for this city yesterday but the captain learning of the heavy ice in the river returned to that port. The tug Tomlin has been fitted with her ice plow and this evening, with the tug Harlow, will proceed to Georgetown and Washington to tow two large schooners and several oyster boats down the river. The ice extends three or four inches thick.

THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY.—Falling as it did this year on Sunday, Christmas was a sort of dual holiday, both Sunday and yesterday having been observed as a season of fasting and good cheer, and this may in a measure account for the fact that yesterday was the most quiet Christmas within the recollection of the present generation, members having surfeited themselves on the previous day. There seemed to be less interest taken in explosives and from blowing. Of course, there was the usual interchange of visits, friends met and exchanged the compliments of the season over bowls, and while many entered with spirit into the festive occasion there were comparatively few cases of convivial excesses, and these for the most part resulted in the manifestation of good nature, it being apparent that but little "two-dollar whiskey" was drunk in this city.

There was a double force of policemen on duty, which had the effect of deterring those naturally disposed to be disorderly. Many indulged in skating during most of the two days, and officers went to Washington to attend the theatres. The intensely cold weather, too, had no little to do with tempering the ardor of some, as hot moves afforded much more congenial quarters than bleak street corners. So far as known no accidents occurred, save was there any serious disorder, the Bachelors' Club and some other organizations kept "open house" yesterday and last night and numerous private entertainments were given. The services in the various churches Sunday were of an interesting and impressive nature. The music rendered, which was after the programmes printed in Friday's GAZETTE, was of an excellent order. The number of visitors from Washington yesterday was not so great as is usual on holiday occasions, partly in consequence of the unpleasant weather and partly because there was but one ferry-boat running. Large numbers from this section of the State visited Washington, and trains were kept busy all day in transporting people.

POLICE REPORT.—Last night was clear and cold until 2 o'clock, when it became cloudy. Several lodgers and several prisoners were at the station. Mayor Strauss yesterday disposed of the following cases:

Lawrence Jackson, colored, for disorderly conduct in front of Sefer Blum's saloon on the night a pistol shot was fired through the window of that place, was fined $5.

A young man for disorderly conduct forfeited $5 collateral.

A conductor of a freight train on the Washington Southern Railway for obstructing street crossings was fined $5.

A young man for disorderly conduct, forfeited $5.

A young man for an assault on another man was fined $5.

The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Two young men for disorderly conduct were fined $5 each.

Scott Butler, colored, for assault on Geo. King, also colored, was fined $7.

Two boys for firing a pistol in the street were dismissed.

Bessie Brown, for an assault on Mary Lucas, both colored, was fined $3.

Charles Gibson for an assault on his wife, Annie Gibson, both colored, was fined $5.

Henry Scott, arrested on complaint of Henry Quill, for an assault on Rebecca Quill, all colored, was dismissed, and an order issued for the arrest of the complainant for contempt of court in failing to appear.

Several persons who had been arrested for drunkenness on the streets were dismissed, and several others arrested for disorderly conduct forfeited their collateral.

The first boat from Washington and this city now leaves at 7:30 a. m. and the last at 6:30 p. m.

SUPERVISORS' MEETING.—The Board of Supervisors of the county met in special session to-day to consider the request of the U. S. War Department to buy a water main from the south end of the Aqueduct bridge through Rosslyn and along the county road to the northeast gate of Arlington cemetery, so that water can be introduced from the reservoir above Georgetown into Fort Myer. All the members of the board were present.

Mr. Frank Hume brought the matter to the attention of the board, and said he thought it would be well to allow the government to do the work.

Mr. J. E. Clements asked if the government would have a large water main laid, and then allow the residents of Rosslyn, and along the line to Fort Myer to tap this main and run water through their houses, by paying for it, like they do in the city of Washington.

Mr. James R. Caton said he was representing the Rosslyn property, and thought if a water main was laid that it should follow the streets of Rosslyn and not cross the lots in any portion of the town of Rosslyn. Mr. Caton also thought that if a water main was laid through the county the people should have the right to tap it and use the water if they thought proper.

Chairman Hume agreed with the gentlemen, but thought they should not ask too much, all at once, of the government, in case of the government made this first step to the improvement of Fort Myer it would not be long before more improvement would be made there, and that these mains would be allowed to be tapped. Probably the water introduced at Fort Myer would be long before the water would be allowed to tap the pipe. The government would eventually take full charge of the whole Arlington estate, and convert it to some useful purpose. Supervisor Wm. N. Pease thought that with some restrictions, the board should grant the right. Supervisor M. E. Bird thought that it was best to allow the government to make this improvement, with the hope that it might lead up to more improvements of a more direct benefit to the county.

Permission was granted the government to lay the water pipes, provided the owners of the property at Rosslyn gave their assent, etc.

After a full discussion of the matter, the following resolution was passed: That the board of Supervisors of the county do hereby resolve, that the road leading through the town of Rosslyn, from the Aqueduct bridge to Fort Myer, be so changed as to conform to the street lines of said town according to the plat and survey thereof, made by D. J. Howell, Engineer, and that the Supervisor of the county do direct the Surveyor of the District to lay out the road and to change its location in said town, so as to conform to said street lines.

It was also ordered that the approaches to the bridge at Clinton Springs be repaired, also, that the Supervisor of the county do direct the Surveyor of the District to lay out the road and to change its location in said town, so as to conform to said street lines.

Policeman George Jones continues seriously ill at his home.

PRESENTATION.—The fine residence of City Treasurer Harlow, at Alfred and Cameron streets, was the scene last night of a large gathering, the occasion being the presentation to Rev. Richard L. Carne, of a beautiful set of vestments on the part of the Alumni of St. John's Academy, of which he was until recently principal. It was purchased by contributions received from former students at a distance after the chalice presented at his ordination had been procured. After an hour spent in social converse with the ladies of the family and their friends, the committee, consisting of Dr. George T. Klipstein, and Messrs. Henry J. Nevett and M. R. Harlow, drew aside the portiere at the lower end of the saloon parlors and invited Father Carne, who supposed himself to have been merely asked to spend an evening with the family and the Alumni present to come forward when Dr. Klipstein made the presentation in a very pretty speech to which the recipient through much embarrassment by the sudden call replied appropriately. Rev. Fathers Cutler and Tarnsey, and Mr. John Harlow, with Messrs. A. D. Warfield, Wm. D. Wood, Geo. H. Harlow and John T. Rafferty, of the Old Students Society, together with the committee, were then ushered into the dining room where an elegant entertainment was given them. The vestments are of rich, white silk, beautifully embroidered in gold and colored silks and were used for the first time at St. Mary's Church this morning, being the Feast of St. John the Evangelist, by Father Carne, who offered the mass for the alumni and students of the academy.

A telegram was received here to-day announcing the death at Norfolk this morning of Mrs. Edie Irving, wife of Dr. R. C. Irving, and daughter of Mrs. Jane Boush, of this city.

THE DEIS COMPANY.—As yet no official announcement has been made by the Deis Manufacturing Company as to their future plans at New Alexandria, although it is generally understood that a temporary structure will be erected for the purpose of filling contracts which had been made before the fire for furnishing chairs. It is said that should the prospects justify it that at some future time a building similar to the one destroyed, but larger, will be built upon the site of the former factory, in which tanks of water and pipes running there-in will be placed in order to avert another conflagration. The officers of the company and the insurance agents have been in consultation to-day, but nothing definite could be learned as to the intentions of the company. As has been stated, it is proposed that a meeting of citizens be held at the Board of Trade rooms to-morrow night in order to give Alexandrians who desire to co-operate with the company an opportunity to do so.

The insurance adjusters, after a long conference with the Deis company, adjourned this evening till January 10 next in order to give the Deis company time to make out an itemized statement of the value of their property, their losses, etc.

THE PINK DOMINO.—The "Pink Domino" hall given by a number of ladies at McBurney's Hall last night was a most unique and enjoyable affair. The quaint designs of the dancers were in almost every instance unrecognizable and many laughable cases of mistaken identity occurred during the evening. At midnight the masks were removed. Dancing continued until 2 o'clock; the music was excellent and the ladies never appeared more charming while the gentlemen vied with each other in their gallantry. The hall was very largely attended and every one present spent a most enjoyable evening and regretted when the dance came to a close. Besides the many Alexandrians in attendance many ladies and gentlemen from a distance were present. The chaperones were Mrs. R. J. Daingerfield, Mrs. W. B. Smart, Mrs. W. B. Daingerfield, Mrs. J. T. Beckham, Mrs. L. W. Reid, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. J. D. Hoot, Mrs. H. R. Elliott, and Mrs. John W. Herndon.

FISHED OUT OF THE RIVER.—John Wantzell, a German farmer who gave Frederickburg, as his home, was brought to the Fourth precinct station-house about 2 o'clock Sunday morning in Washington, by Barton Vernon, a private watchman in the Baltimore and Potomac freight yards near the Long Bridge. He was dripping wet and almost frozen when he reached the station and Vernon said he had fished him out of the river in response to cries of help. Wantzell was given a bed near a stove, and after he had thawed out he told his story: "I thought I was in Alexandria," he said, "and don't know how I reached Washington. After walking into the river I must have swam a mile before I got help." He was released yesterday morning and returned to his home.

A VERY QUIET WEDDING took place at St. Mary's Church yesterday morning, at 6:30 o'clock, the contracting parties being Capt. Wm. H. Sweeney, the new principal of St. John's Academy, and Miss Annie Keegan, eldest daughter of the late Capt. Patrick Keegan, of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The attendants were the brother and sister of the bride; but few other persons besides the immediate family and some few students of the academy were present. Rev. Father Carne performed the ceremony assisted by the pastor, Capt. Sweeney and his bride left immediately for a few days' sojourn at his father's home near Upperville.
